Mr. Vanderbilt said he knew nothing about any such account, and did not know whether there was such an account on the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad books.

Mr. Vanderbilt, on retiring from the stand, thanked the Committee for the consideration shows him by them during his examination.

Mr. E. G. Patterson next took the stand and testified as follows:

testified as follows:

I have been engaged in the production of petroleum for teny zers. I am in no business now. Witness described the petroleum belt, which is fifty miles in length shift ten miles wide, and said the territors is constantly shifting. The production at the present time is much larger than ever before, and the consumption has correspondingly increased. The geographical development does not affect the rainfrands. with the latter referred to the war of the New York Central and Erie roads against the Pennsylvania road, explained in the testimony of Mr. Vanderbilt and Mr. Jewett, by which the Empire Company was wiped out of existence and the families of the Pennsylvania road absorbed by the Standard.

As to the railroad built by Mr. Vanderbilt, which the latter referred to in his testimony in connection with the bad faith of certain oil men, witness said the road was originally built from Dunkirk to within forty miles of Titusville (citizens of Titusville (not the oil refluers) wished him to extend this line to that point, and promised him their business as long as he would do it as cheap as any one cise. No oil men went near him at this time, and no guarantee of oil traffic was made. Witness subsequently testified that the road was now in successful operation, and that it received its share of oil understhe Standard arrangement. Witness and there was a pipe line known as the American Transfer Company, owned by Bostwick of the Standard Company; the sing was transferred to United Pipe Lines. THE POLICE COMMISSIONERS. Proceedings Preceding the Senting of Mr. MacLenn for a Single Session.

The Police Board met yesterday, and Mr. MacLean, who was elected at the meeting on Friday of last week to serve as temporary President until Aug. 29, took the chair. Mr. Morrison opened the bail by moving that Mr. Mac-Lean be elected permanent President of the Board. On the motion being put, Messrs, Morrison and MacLean voted "Aye," and Messrs. Wheeler and French "No." It being declared lost, Mr. Morrison moved that Mr. MacLean be Wheeler and French "No." It being declared lost, Mr. Morrison moved that Mr. MacLean be appointed to serve as President until further action. Mr. Wheeler objected that this was contrary to the understanding that a President should be chosen alternatively from the two parties in the Board, and amended that Mr. French be appointed to serve as President. The amendment was lost, Mesers, MacLean and Morrison tying Mesers. Wheeler and French's affirmative vote by one in the negative, and then the original motion was lost by a reverse process. Mr. Morrison now moved that Mr. MacLean be appointed President, to serve until Sept. 5. Mr. Wheeler amended by substituting Mr. French's name instead of Mr. MacLean's. The amendment was lost by the same vote as its projectssor. Mr. Wheeler, after speaking several times of the "understanding" that existed, was tasked by Mr. MacLean what the understanding was. He explained that, in a conversation with Mr. Morrison, he understood that a President was to be chosen. "first one on our side, and then one on yours."

The original motion was put and lost by the usual vote. Mr. Wheeler now magnanimously said that he had no objection to Mr. MacLean's acting as President until a meeting on Monday, Sept. 1, provided a definite understanding eould be reached on that day. Mr. Morrison made a mation to that effect, omitting the provision as to a definite understanding. Mr. Wheeler amended by substituting Mr. French's name. The amendment of course, was lost at which Mr. French said that he tee should be alternately a Republican and a Democratic Chairman.

"The Chairman should be neither Republican or the procession of the magnanic was an understanding."

Policeman Gilmore saw Rudolph Herr some from the hallway of 581 First avenue at 5 A. M. yesterday. Herr's hand was bleeding, and Gilmore asked how he had hurt himself. Herr replied that he had been fighting. He was allowed to pass on. Gilmore followed the trail of blood through the hallway into the yard, and then to the window of the room in the rear of Mrs. Hillard's barroom. The window was open, and a broken pane of glass showed how the latch had been moved. Gilmore saw a burglary had been committed, and ran back and arrested Herr in Thirty-fourth street, near First avenue. Herr was faint from loss of bloos! In his jacket were several articles taken from the barroom. Gilmore led him back to the house. As they entered the hallway Gilmore found it filled with smoke, and flames were coming from the windows of the rear room. Gilmore rapped for assistance and several policemen appeared. They sent out the fire alarm and hurried out the five families who lived in the four upper stories of the tenement. The fire was put out before it spread to the upper stories. Upon investigating the burned room a trunk was found broken open, and blackened matches were scattered about the floor. Herr had thrown a lighted match into a child's carriage containing light baby clothes. These isnited and set fire to clothes hanging against the wall. Herr was arraigned in the Yorkville Police Court on necusations of arroon and burgiary. Deputy Fire Marshal Varian was present. Herr was so weak that he had to be supported. His excuse was that he was drunk. He was remanded to await an investigation by the Fire Marshal.

CRICKET AT STATES ISLAND. Better Playing than that at Either Hoboken

There was an unusually large and fashionable attendance at the Staten Island cricket fleid, yesterday, on the occasion of the match between the Hamilton Club eleven and the Staten Island Club's best team, the result of the match in Philadelphia on Thursday imparting considerable interest to this last match of the series the Hamiltona have to play in the United States. The Canadians put up at the Brighton Pavilion on Thursday night, on their arrival from Philadelphia, and they were early on the field.

States. The Canadians put up at the Brighton Pavilion on Thursday night, on their arrival from Philadelphia, and they were early on the field.

The Islanders, winning the toss, sent the Canadians to the field at 11%, and at first the promise was a good seere for the home team, the second wieket falling for the good average score of 16. The ratio was not kept up, however, for the fall of the last wicket saw the Island total at 47 only. Riddare's 12 was the batting feature, Kennedy bearing off the pain, in the bowling. Though the Islanders were disposed of for a comparatively small score, they expected to return the compliment, and they did in a measure do so, for the last wicket of the Canadians fell for 66, a smaller score than they made at either Philadelphia or Hooken. They had sent the Island team to the wickets a second time, and had taken three of their wickets for 24 runs, when play for the day terminated, to be resumed to day at 11 A. M.

The Canadians were hospitably entertained yesterday by the ciub at the Pavillon, and last night they dined with Mr. Wyman, a Canadian resident of Brighton. To-day, after the match, a reception is to be given the visitors at the Brighton Pavilion, and a hop will follow in the evening. The contest in the field thus far has been an unusually fine exhibition of cricket, and it is an open question as to which club will achieve victory.

KILLED IN AN EXPLOSION.

THE TERRIBLE END OF A CARELESS POWDER MAKER.

Richard Howe, at Work in his Brother's Mill, Strikes Fire from an Iron Pet Pull of Ganpowder, and Blows Up the Mill. On Thursday evening a gunpowder mill in Bay Chester, on the Harlom River branch of the New York, New Haven, and Hartford Rail-road, was blown up, and Richard Howe was killed. He was the youngest of three brothers— the others being the owners of the mill. Their names are William M. Howe and Robert J.
Howe, and they have been employed in powder making from boyhood. Richard had worked in a powder mill all his life. The elder brothers spent much of their time in New York, where all three lived, but Richard worked regularly in the mill, under the supervision of Leonard Reed, who was the engineer as well as the chief workman. The only other employee was W. H. Dennis, a truckman. He was in New York at the time of the explosion.

Bay Chester consists of a railroad depot, a tavern, a negro shanty, a barn, and the powder mills of the Howe Brothers and of a Mr. Parker, whose works were injured by an explosion nine months ago, and have been closed since. Near it are finer structures—the residences of wealthy New Yorkers. The two powder mills are on one side of the railroad track, and the depot and the hotel on the other side. The Howe Brothers' powder works cover itsil an acre of ground, and embraces as engine house, or glazing room. These are all wooden structures apparently located with a view to explosions, so that no more than one may be destroyed at a time.

"Explesions are the commonest sort of things," Mr. Robert Howe said, in speaking of the one that was blown up. "I've seen hundreds of 'em. I've been in some of them myself, but I have not been hurt."

Located Roed and Richard Howe were about two the structure, and intended to make his exit through the other door, which was always looked from the outside. He was in his shirt sleeves, and young Howe was stirring for the last time the wet brimstone, charcoal, and saltperten in a big iron cauldron. This was unfinished powder for blasting. Howe stirred it with a shoved. When the showed it is not of the content of the door of the form of the root of the more what time the wet brimstone, charcoal, and saltperten in a big iron cauldron. "Dick," Reed shouted, greatly alarmed, don't you never do that again. Suppose that had caught fire where would we have been?" Howe laughed.

"Why, he answered," you'd have flown out of the door and I'd have shot up through the roof, I suppose.

Soon Howe's shovel became cologged again, and he rapped the from pot with it. Reed sprang to the nearerst door and reached the outer air just as the roof of the building flew in a million splinters toward the sky. Comptroller Kelly has completed his report of the Finance Department for the year ending Aug. 1, 1879. It shows that the total receipts of the City Treasury were $69,680,964.42, and the disbursements $68,264,834.64. The receints of the Sinking Fund for the redemption of the debt were $13,400,031.76, and the expen-ceints of the Sinking Fund for the redemption of the debt were $13,400,031.76, and the expenditures $13,285,741.21. The Sinking Fund for the payment of interest on the debt received $2,608,961.45 and paid out $1,704.375.13. The net bonded debt, exclusive of revenue bonds, was, on Aug. 1, 1879, $105,255.783.95, and the decrease in the net bonded debt, exclusive of revenue bonds, since Dec. 31, 1876, is $8,450,681.93. The amount of city stocks and bonds in the Sinking Fund on July 31, 1879, was $32,021, 240.03, which, with the $114,290.55 cash balance in the Sinking Fund for the redemption of the city debt, makes the sum standing to its credit in the statement of the bonded debt on that date $32,135,530,58.

Of the money paid by this city for the building of the Brooklyn Bridge, the report says, $600.000 has been paid to the trusters since the decision of the Court of Appeals in March last. The total sum for which bonds have been issued is $3,600.000. The unpaid balance is $4566,666. Of the tax levy for 1879, the Comptroller says: "It will slightly exceed the total amount of taxes in 1878 on account of the additional apprepriations made by the Legislature. The rate of tax will also be a small fraction in excess of that of 1878, for the same reason, as well as because the net amount of the assessed valuations of property is $4,318,400 less than the valuations in 1878. The rate of tax for 1879 is estimated at 2.59 per cent, in 1878.

The report further shows that the arrears of taxes on real estate are $9,514,102, and the arrears of Croton water rents $130,026,49. The total amount of unpaid personal taxes is $11,631,027, and the balance of unsettled assessments of local improvements is $10,627,537. The passage of acts by the Legislature, for several years past, extending the time of payment and renewing the interest on arrears, is given as the reason for the large amount of arrears of taxes on real estate and of assessments.

The sum realized by the Esgislature for public use is $301,800. The mortigages held by the St. Louis, Aug. 29.—The police authorities have notified all preprietors of sambling houses that if their places are open after Monday next they will be prosecuted to the full extent of the new law, which is very stringent. Mr. Vanderbilt is reported to have announced at Saratoga, this morning, his purpose of building two additional tracks for the New York Central Railroad, between this city and Albany, thus giving the road four tracks all the way to Buffalo. The impression made by the news on some is that the Central must be ornring a good deal more than the $$\frac{1}{2}$ cent. Mr. Vanderbilt divides on its stock, and that this new track is to be made use of as a convenient way of disposing of the money. Others, however, say that the project, if seriously entertained, only proves that Mr. Vanderbilt told the truth when he testified before the Legislative Committee that he did not know much about railroading. It is difficult to see why all the advantage of four tracks could not be obtained by long sidings at proper intervals, such as the Pennsylvania Railroad finds amply sufficient for its immense traffic, or why, if four continuous tracks are needed, the Harlem road cannot be utilized for the purpose.

The next few weeks promise to be decisive of the future of the anthractic coal companies. The action of the New York corporations in establishing agencies in Philadelphia and that of the Reading Railroad Company in reducing tolls sets on foot a Darwinian struggle for existence which can end only in the survival of the fittest. It is a test of relative strength, the result of which no one can certainly predict, in the meanwhile, holders of coal stocks are taking alarm, and the lower prices accepted today indicate a diminution of this morning says: "Owing to the expectation of a beavy drain of the Survival of the Roaden Pinancier of this morning says: "Owing to the expectation of a beavy drain of

The Summit Branch and Shamokin Coal Companies held meetings in Philatelphia this afternoon, and agreed to make reductions for September, similar to those adopted by the Schuyikili operators yesterday. The Lehigh operators have taken no action as yet. A circular was published this morning by the Philatelphia and Reading Railroad Company to the effect that on and after Monday. Sept. 1, and at the option of shippers, the frieght and tells upon anthractic coal by canal from Schuyikili Haven to New York harbor, to points on the Hudson River, or points on Long Island Sound, exclusive of the charge of towing from New York city, will be 45 per cent. of the price at which the said coal is sold at the point of deliver, except for pea coal, for which the rate will be 65 per cent. It is provided that, if the coal is sent in private or leased boats, no higher rate of freight will be taken into account than that current in the company's line boats. A circular was also issued stating that on and after Monday. Sept. 1, such drawbacks will be paid upon all anthracite coal shipped from Port Richmond and consigned to points beyond the capes of the Delaware upon or through the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal as will reduce the freight and tolls from the mines to 40 per cent. of the net price at which the coal is sold free on boars at Part Richmond for lump and steamer coal: 30 per cent. for pea coal.
